

I 'have been here for one year and I was un a small village called Crosshaven, the house was close to the bus stop and the village, so I was able to take a bus and to meet with my friends. My host family was amazing, they made me feel at home and they support me with everything, specially my host mum always took care of me, they were so nice during this year.

The school was very close, I went everyday walking, is 10 minutes. I had a great year because I was doing TY that is a different year, we did a lot of activities and we learnt about values and myself.

Whereas in Spain we only learn with studying and books. The teacher was so nice and friendly. They are used to have international students, so they help me in everything I need.

I made a lot of friends and they help me to improve my English. The Irish people are in general good people and they are with you for everything.

My experience here has been the best of my life and I would recommend to everyone to do this year and without fear. I will remember this for the rest of my live.
